

Cloaked

By Gina McKnight

I'm cloaked in you,
covered in stars,
hooded in dreams,
cuffed by crave,
complacent and warm.
Completely submersed,
a soft, drippy caress
as you bow to my waist;
I'm lost in your mien.
Semblance revealed
like a fine hind's coat,
suggestive, precise;
Your face seeking mine.
Adorned by your stare,
leave me at peace,
keep me as yours,
forever and always;
I'm cloaked in you.

Gina McKnight bio: From Ohio USA, Gina's poetry has appeared international anthologies as well as literary journals. Writing at an early age, an avid reader and lover of words, Gina continues to be encouraged by her horses, neighbors, family, and friends. gmcknight.com . Recent Poetry Release: http://www.amazon.com/Heart-poetry-collection-Monday-Poetry/dp/150896419X/ref=asap\_bc?ie=UTF8